Health & Safety Leadership Charter

June 13, 2018

Saskatchewan Health & Safety Leadership Charter

This charter is intended to support the continuous improvement of healthy and safe workplaces. It is founded on the principle that the effective management of health, safety and wellness is essential to the operation of a successful business. Participation in this charter is a visible commitment from business leaders to actively participate within a learning community that provides and receives best practices for the enhancement of employee physical, social and mental well-being. The benefits will be realized as this learning is integrated and applied into organizational business strategies, systems and processes.

By signing this charter, leaders commit their support to the following:

- To subscribe to the principle that nothing is more important than the health, safety and well-being of employees, contractors, clients, customers, visitors and, if and whenever possible, the surrounding community.
- To integrate health and safety into business strategies, processes and performance measures, and to recognize that good health and safety performance supports good business results.
- To effectively manage health and safety risks by eliminating, minimizing or controlling hazards.
- To strive for continuous health and safety improvement and to provide the leadership and internal capacity to make this happen.
- To provide an environment that enables all employees to participate and work collaboratively in developing, promoting and improving health and safety at work.
- To extend health and safety efforts, if and whenever possible, beyond the workplace, recognizing and supporting related initiatives within the community.
- To participate within a health and safety leadership learning community by providing and receiving information and best practices, with the goal of continuously improving health and safety strategies, programming and performance.

Wednesday, June 13, 2018, Lower Convention Hall, Conexus Arts Centre, 200A Lakeshore Drive, Regina

Emcee and Panel Discussion Moderator:

Paul Martin

Born and raised in southern Saskatchewan, his work has been seen and heard in the province's media since the early '70s. Specializing in the coverage of the business and political scenes, his career has spanned radio, television, print, and electronic media. He and his wife are partners in Martin Charlton Communications, a public relations firm providing services to a variety of public and private clients across Western Canada.

Paul's journalism career has taken him around the world, giving him a unique perspective on the role of Saskatchewan and Canada on the global scene. In recent years he has increasingly directed his attention to CEO and Executive development, working with several dozen leaders in the provincial business community to sharpen their skills.

An active member of the Saskatchewan business community, he is a former board chair of the Regina Regional Economic Development Authority and sits on several corporate boards.

Keynote Speaker:

Marcelo Lu, President, BASF Canada

Marcelo Lu provides strategic oversight on all business activities within Canada, working across the organization to bring BASF's corporate purpose "We create chemistry for a sustainable future" to life. He currently serves as Vice-Chairman for the Chemistry Industry Association of Canada (CIAC), championing BASF's commitment to Responsible Care® in all aspects of the company's business, including operations, product stewardship and environmental, health and safety performance.

Prior to moving to Canada, Marcelo was Vice President, Business Management Polyamides and Precursors, for BASF in Asia Pacific. Throughout his career he has worked towards integrating sustainability into business strategies and procurement practices while holding various positions within BASF Group. Prior to joining BASF, Marcelo held several consulting positions at International Finance Corporation (IFC), the private sector development arm of the World Bank, in Washington, DC. Marcelo has a Bachelor of Science Degree from the School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University (Washington DC, USA).

Charter Panel Members:

Kyle Jeworski, President and CEO, Viterra

Kyle Jeworski leads Viterra, Canada's industry leader, overseeing the company's corporate strategy and vision, extensive asset network and diverse team of employees across North America. Through his leadership the company is firmly focused on operational excellence, and has made significant investments in new builds, acquisitions and capacity expansions. He is also dedicated to making targeted investments in innovation through technology and process improvements to support the company's ongoing mission to connect more customers to more places. The company also continues to make sizable industry and community investments for the benefit of its stakeholders.

Kyle has been with the company for over twenty years and has had the opportunity to lead major change initiatives during his tenure. Previously, he served as Vice President, Grain Merchandising and Transportation and led the growth of the Viterra's market share in Western Canada. He has been instrumental in growing Viterra's presence through expansions, acquisitions and integration efforts across North America, Australia, Europe and Asia. Throughout his career he has been an advocate of the agricultural industry and its importance in feeding an ever growing world.

A firm believer in the value of collaboration and giving back, Kyle continues to lend his industry and business expertise to the people and communities around him. He sits on numerous panels, working groups and board including the National Grain and Feed Association and the Prince Rupert Grain Board.

He also serves on the Hospitals of Regina Foundation Board and is a member of the University of Regina's Leader Council.

Kyle Jeworski resides in Regina, Saskatchewan with his family.

Rod Pickering, President, R. P. Automotive Inc.

Rodney Pickering is a Journeyman Automotive Technician who has worked in the trade for 33 years. He has owned his own business for 18 years.

Rod started his career spending 10 years with the Dodge Dealership in Weyburn, SK. In 2001, he decided to start his own business, R.P. Automotive Inc. This enterprise started out in a one-bay shop and worked independently. In the first year, R.P. Automotive Inc had already outgrown its shop as business had exceeded expectations.

Shortly thereafter, Rod expanded to a four-bay shop. The business currently employs eight full and part-time staff.

In 2016, Rod signed the Mission:Zero Saskatchewan Health & Safety Charter and implemented a health and safety plan for R.P. Automotive Inc. The company's a health and safety plan is not only recognized by staff but also by its clients and the community.

Van Isman, President and CEO, Saskatchewan Opportunities Corporation

After completing his formal education, Van spent 14 years in his family's processing and exporting business. During this period, Van started three subsidiary ventures. After the family business was wound down and the subsidiaries sold off, Van was hired by SIAST to develop an Entrepreneurship Centre. Subsequently, he was selected to manage Saskatchewan's small business unit in the economic development department. After a number of assignments, including CEO of Wascana Centre Authority and 5 years as a Deputy Minister, Van is now the President and CEO of the Saskatchewan Opportunities Corporation, which owns and operates the Innovation Place research and technology parks at Saskatchewan's two universities.

Prior to commencing his professional career, Van attended the University of Saskatchewan, obtaining a BA and an MBA. More recently, Van received a Chartered Directors designation.

Van and his wife, Clare, have two wonderful adult daughters of whom they are extremely proud.

In his volunteer life, Van has served on a number of Boards, including a Privy Council appointment to the Board of the Canadian Tourism Commission. Van is currently the Vice-Chair of the Alzheimer Society of Saskatchewan.

A vision...

Welcome from the President

We come together today in fellowship with a single vision in mind: to work towards an injury-free Saskatchewan. We have all, unfortunately, heard too many times that our province has among the worst safety records in the country. On a daily basis, lives are needlessly lost or ruined all across Saskatchewan due to incidents that could have been prevented – if only injury prevention had been top-of-mind. Simply put – status quo is not acceptable; and as our province's leaders, we need to drive home that point.

The good news is that Saskatchewan's leaders have stepped up and are making significant contributions every day to raising health and safety awareness, not only in the workplace but throughout our communities and our homes. This is truly heroic work. Those of you who have signed or are about to sign the Charter can feel justifiably proud of your contributions towards saving countless lives on this journey.

Today we celebrate these efforts and successes, and we also take time to reflect on the challenges ahead. These are challenges which we have proven we can overcome together – and I encourage you to keep your commitment strong, to build a safer Saskatchewan.

Thank you for joining us.

Neil Johnson

President
Safe Saskatchewan Inc

Greetings from the CEO

Welcome, Charter signatories and guests! It is our pleasure and honour to have you as our partners at this annual gathering that celebrates our combine efforts at changing and saving lives.

This event brings together business, government, union and community leaders from across the province. We have gathered together to confirm our support for a single shared belief: that the only acceptable number of injuries in our great province is ZERO.

We are still a long way from zero but we have made progress. That growth has come in large measure due to the support of public champions like those who will today be stepping up to sign the Saskatchewan Health & Safety Leadership Charter for the first time.

Often in the face of vast society-wide challenges we are tempted to think that one person cannot make a difference. The Charter has proven that notion wrong. Each and every one of you here today is making a difference. Together, we are changing Saskatchewan's safety culture for the better. We are saving lives and preventing countless hours of pain and suffering. Your leadership and dedication are making a difference.

As we move forward in the year ahead with renewed energy, I encourage you all to act as ambassadors of the Charter and Mission:Zero with your employees, your colleagues, your communities and your friends and family.

Thank you for joining us today and for your support.

SASKATCHEWAN
CONSTRUCTION SAFETY ASSOCIATION

The Saskatchewan Construction Safety Association (SCSA) is an industry-funded, membership-based, non-profit organization that provides cost-effective, accessible safety training and advice to employers and employees in the construction industry throughout the province to reduce the human and financial losses associated with injuries. Registered March 20, 1998 the SCSA is, and has been since inception, committed to injury prevention. Serving almost 10,000 member companies, the major business units of the association are Advisory Services, Business Development, Corporate Services, Program Services and Training.

The SCSA was founded by a group of business leaders who stepped up and voiced the opinion that things had to change, too many people were getting injured and losing their lives at work. They felt that they could do things differently when it came to safety and they did. The organization today, is a legacy of that leadership and the commitment to safety that the founding companies embraced.

With a new mission - Constructing Safety Leadership in Saskatchewan – and vision – to become the safest construction environment in Canada – the SCSA is proud to be a leading provider of safety advice, guidance, and training, for the residential and commercial construction industry in the province.

In the construction industry many businesses and their customers realize that safety is something that adds value to their projects, whether a home renovation or a major infrastructure project. Companies that are carefully methodical in their management of safety are more likely to be carefully methodical about other aspects of their business management (marketing, financial management, operations, human resources, communications, ethical awareness, environmental, risk management and quality).

Safety and methodical safety management can be a powerful asset to a company – a contributor to its performance and a proxy of good management. Many of Saskatchewan's leading businesses have made significant advances in safety as a principal risk-mitigation tool to control avoidable losses in regard to production (down-time), environmental impact, human (injuries and fatalities), financial, and company reputation.

On behalf of the SCSA Board, management team, staff and 10,000 member companies, the SCSA would like to congratulate everyone that has made a new or renewed commitment to making injuries in the workplace a thing of the past.

For more information visit www.scsaonline.ca

Safe Saskatchewan would like to thank our partners at Access Communications for their in-kind support of the ZERO program series and the 2018 Mission: Zero Awards.

The ongoing support of community champions like Access Communications helps us spread the word about Mission: Zero to an ever-growing audience.

Safe Saskatchewan Strategic Priorities

Strategic Priority 1: Influence Cultural Transformation

Goal Statement: Facilitate and coordinate strategies and activities aimed at transforming Saskatchewan culture and positioning injury prevention as a core value.

Strategic Imperative 1.1

Facilitate and assist in coordinating the implementation of the Community Safety Education Strategy (CSES) targeted at educating children and youth, and designed to influence a transformation of our provincial culture towards positioning injury prevention as a core value.

Strategic Imperative 1.2

Position the Saskatchewan Health & Safety Leadership Charter as a program that supports government, community, union, and industry leaders in placing safety as a core value in their own organizations, by expanding the number and diversity of Charter signatories, communicating its outcomes, facilitating dialogue and developing accountability mechanisms among signatories through the establishment of a Health and Safety Leadership Learning Community.

Strategic Priority 2: Business Development and Stewardship

Goal Statement: Secure Safe Saskatchewan's future through stewardship of our strategic partners, and by developing new strategic, project, sponsorship, and investment partners to increase our financial resources in support of the growth of Mission: Zero in Saskatchewan, and to sustain it into the future.

Strategic Imperative 2.1

Ensure the longevity of our organization through responsible fiscal management of our annual operations budget, and increase the number and diversity of strategic partnerships, sponsorships, project partnerships, sponsorships, and other funding-related partnerships.

Safe Saskatchewan Strategic Partners

How do we get the injury prevention message out there?

It starts with a central core of individuals and organizations that give their valuable time and financial resources to support the goals of the organization. Safe Saskatchewan thanks its key strategic partners for another year of making Saskatchewan safer.
